Opening Of All Schools Is Postponed

In compliance with an order today by Dr. C. G. Crist, county medical director, prohibiting the opening of schools in Adams county until further notice, the county superintendent's office was notifying districts throughout the county that schools may not be opened until the health authorities give permission.

Some schools in rural districts were scheduled to open next Monday.

The order prohibiting the opening of schools is in line with the restrictions issued by medical authorities a week ago restricting children 16 years of age and under from theaters, churches, Sunday schools and all public gatherings as a precautionary measure against the spread of polio.

Harrisburg, Aug. 26 (AP)—Pennsylvania's infantile paralysis outbreak has claimed the lives of two more children while the state Health department now lists the number of persons stricken so far this year at 515.

Two-year old Joseph Taylor died in Philadelphia, where local authorities have reported 125 cases, and nine-year-old Terry Hochman, Johnstown, became Cambria county's fifth polio victim since July 8. Johnstown officials also listed three new cases to bring the county total to 49.

The health department yesterday listed 19 additional cases.

New cases listed by the state were Lackawanna, Northampton and Tioga counties, three each; Lehigh, two; and Adams, Carbon, Columbia, Franklin, Lancaster, Luzerne, Lycoming and Schuylkill, one each. McKean county authorities also listed three new cases there as the county school board called a meeting Wednesday to decide whether to delay school opening as a precautionary measure.

He was a little unsteady on his feet but insisted on coming over and giving each correspondent a Gallic hug and a Gallic kiss on each cheek—something of a comrade ordeau for all except the Frenchman himself.

Needed Liberty

Everyone was hoping he'd take another drink and fall asleep or go home and kiss his wife, but you're always polite to a military ally with a wife. So as the waitress had just brought cakes, he was asked to share one.

"Merci non, pas de gâteau," he said. "Mais l'ami est nécessaire pour moi," which, being French is correct, meant he could get along without cake but he did have to have his liberty.

EFFECT OF DRY
WEATHER HERE

With the peach season near its peak in Adams county, peaches filled the stands at the Farmers' market house this morning but only the earlier shoppers found choice fruit for canning. Many of the peaches were small and growers explained their size was due to the dry weather.

There were Beiles of Georgia at some stands today and Beiles were promised for next week. The Beiles could be had for $1.25 a half bushel basket. Prices on peaches were quoted as high as $1.75 a half bushel basket. By the box most peaches sold at 20 cents.

Summer Rambos were offered at most stands and brought $2 per bushel. Fox grapes brought 20 cents a quart or two boxes for 55 cents. Other grapes were marked 15 and 20 cents a quart box. Plums were $1.50 a half bushel and 10 cents a quart box. Nectarines described as a cross between a peach and a plum sold for 25 cents a quart box at one stand. Baskets of mixed fruits were on sale at one stand at 60 cents each. Sticke pears were 65 cents a peck and 15 cents a quart box.

Tomatoes Plentiful

Tomatoes brought $1 and $1.25 a half bushel basket and 20 cents a quart box. Eggplants were 20 cents each; Lima beans (shelled), 25 cents a pint and 50 cents a quart; squash, 40 cents each to three for 10 cents; cucumbers, two for five cents; onions, 15 cents a box; red beets, 10 cents a box; home-grown carrots, from eight to 30 cents each; and celery, 25 cents a stalk.

Roasting ears were in short supply and sold from 30 to 45 cents a dozen. Potatoes were $2.50 a bushel and 90 cents a peck.

Dressed frys continued at 60 cents a pound while egg whites ranged from 41 to 46 cents a dozen. Home-made pies could be had at from 15 to 35 cents each while cakes ranged from 20 cents to 75 cents, depending upon the size.

Gladioli were on sale at prices ranging up to $2 per dozen spikes.

RELIEF PAYMENTS INCREASE

Direct relief payments made to needy residents of Adams county during the week ended today showed an increase of $3.50 over those of the previous week. State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner reported.

ROTHENHOEFFER ELATED; COURT GRANTS LIBERTY

The words of Judge W. C. Sheely Friday afternoon revealing the two-year sentence under which Charles N. Rothenhoeffer, 73, Aspers, had been sent to jail August 5 "seized the heart" of the elderly community, who told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times that the 29-day period he spent in jail was the longest he had ever been away from home.

He was surprised when Sheriff John E. McElwane took him from jail to the court room early Friday afternoon and greatly relieved when he heard Judge Sheely say he was reducing the two-year sentence—a very unusual procedure here—and suspending any further sentence.

After his release Mr. Rothenhoeffer repeated what he had said many times before he "wouldn't have harmed Billy McCauslin for the world" but that when he glimpsed the boy's blue shirt through bushes at the end of his garden, he shot at what he thought was a fish crane as he had often done before along the small stream that passes his residence.

Grateful To Neighbors

The elderly man said he appreciated all that his friends did for him since the tragic shooting on July 12. Several residents of Aspers community came into court August 5 when sentence originally was passed and testified to his good reputation in the neighborhood in which he had resided for the last 17 years.

After Rothenhoeffer was released under a two-year probation order, he "fixed up the papers" with Probation Officer James B. Auten and then went to the county jail for his extra clothing and a few other possessions before riding home to Aspers in a car sent here for that purpose by H. Earl Pitzer, Aspers, who had furnished bail for Mr. Rothenhoeffer after his arrest by state police in July.

Can Pay Money

Mr. Rothenhoeffer said he believed that with the help of members of his family he would be able to pay the $500 to the McCauslin family, a part of the original sentence and a condition of the probation order.

Rothenhoeffer was prosecuted under a section of the state game laws for killing a human being in mistake for wild game.

At the time Rothenhoeffer was sentenced, Judge Sheely indicated the elderly man had permission to ask for a parole before the expiration of the jail term. It developed later that the defendant could not be eligible for parole until the expiration of the "minimum" sentence, so the court decided upon the probation order.

Judge Sheely said he was convinced the shooting was accidental. The terms of the sentence were dictated by the act under which Rothenhoeffer was prosecuted.

WAR MEMORIAL SERVICES HERE
TUESDAY NIGHT

A service in memory of Cpl. Horace M. Brubaker, first Gettysburgian to give his life in France in this war, will be conducted Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Presbyterian church here where Corporal Brubaker was a member.

The 27-year-old field artillery corporal was killed by German artillery fire on the night before a late October in the village of Chateaubourg on the evening of June 25. His body lies in an American cemetery in Normandy where members of his battery conducted brief memorial services at the time he was buried with military honors.

The service will be conducted by the Rev. Robert M. Purdy, pastor of the church, and will include prayer, appropriate hymns, scripture reading and a sermon on "The Victory of Faith." His text will be I John 5:4, "This is the victory that hath overcome the world, even our faith."

A guard of honor from the Albert J. Lentz Post No. 202 of the American Legion will carry the national colors to the front of the auditorium as the service begins. The guard will be composed of The Gettysburg Times before it entered service.

Services Are Held
For O. P. House

Funeral services for Oliver Percy House, 84-year-old Bendersville native who died at his home there Friday morning, were held Friday noon at 1:30 o'clock. The services were conducted at the residence by the Rev. George W. Harroon, pastor of the Bendersville Methodist church, and interment was made in the Bendersville cemetery. Mr. House was a director and one of the organizers of the cemetery association. He was superintendent for the past 16 years.

The pallbearers were William Sheely, George M. Peters, Henry Crum, Henry Taylor, G. F. Smith and D. G. Asper.

14 TRUE BILLS ARE RETURNED BY GRAND JURY

Sitting until 6:10 o'clock Friday evening—an unusually long session—the grand jury for the August term of court returned 14 true bills and rejected one.

Although there was not an unusually large number of cases to be reviewed, many witnesses were called and the session extended several hours over the customary hour of adjournment. Judge W. C. Sheely said today that it was probably the longest session in his nine years as president judge of the Adams court.

With the grand jury adjourned the customary inspection of the county jail and county home will not be made during this term of court.

The lone indictment not returned as a true bill was the case of Victor A. Palmer against William Cuttiss for operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner. The jury also ordered that Palmer pay the costs of the case.

True Bills

A second indictment against Cuttiss for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor was returned as a true bill.

Other true bills were found against the following: Chauncey Laughman, Abbottstown, serious charge; Richard Ingram, Littlestown, R. 2, serious charge; Maurice C. Wagner, New Oxford, R. 2, involuntary manslaughter; Maurice Hildebrand.

429 PATIENTS AT HOSPITAL IN 2 MONTHS

Directors of the Annie M. Warner hospital met at the Nurses' home Friday night and received reports of the operation of the hospital during two of its busiest months, June and July, during which 425 patients were admitted to the institution.

The daily average of patients in the hospital during June soared to 84 while July averaged 49.

During the two months there were 79 births, 43 male and 36 female. Accidents cases treated during the period totaled 58.

Robert B. Martin, a director from the Fairfield district, submitted his resignation in view of his change of residence to Harrisburg where he will be identified with a real estate concern.

Mr. Martin's resignation was accepted with regret. The election of a successor was postponed until the September meeting of the board.

Monthly Visits

The directors spent considerable time discussing routine business and in receiving reports of officers and committees.

President C. A. Bixler, who presided, introduced an innovation by forming teams of two directors to each month will visit and inspect the hospital. President Bixler's assignments start with September and carry through to the end of the hospital fiscal year in May.

Directors attending the meeting were C. A. Dixler, president; William D. Dill, Dr. Frank H. Kramer, Charles H. Smith, Edmund W. Thomas, H. Harold Miller, E. P. Miller, Father Mark E. Stock and Henry M. Schaeffer, all of Gettysburg; Guy Stock, Bendersville; C. P. Keeler, New Oxford; Wilbur Bankert, Littlestown; Edgar McDowell, Antesville; John Hauser, Bigerville; and Millard F. Stover, Fairfield.

In this fight, the first reported episode here of the Romanians attacking their former comrades, killing and taking them rades in arms after the division was captured by the Red Army, was virtually lost by the Russians. The dispatch said the Romanians were merciless as they slashed into the dead.

In a continuation of the fighting, the Red Star dispatch last night reported little more than 100 miles from Bucharest, the capital, the enemy nearly 200,000 killed or captured in six days. Gen. Rodod E. Malinovskiy's Second Ukraine Army established a bridgehead across the Siret in the vicinity of Nisporeni; a little more than 100 miles from Bucharest, front dispatches said.

It appeared that the Goliat Gap defense zone guarding both the Romanian capital and the Ploesti oil fields was virtually lost to the retreating foe.

Fanning out, Malinovskiy's troops threatened to cut the railroad between by-passed Focasani and Bucharest.

By HAL BOYLE

Chartres, Aug. 17 (Delayed) (AP)—A year and a half ago there was displayed prominently in army circles in Africa a poster showing a soldier digging a foxhole and beneath it the words "dig or die." That motto has been adopted by the German army in France, which is undergoing far heavier air attacks than those the Luftwaffe was able to launch against American ground forces in the first dismal months of the Tunisian campaign.

For 30 miles riding toward Chartres on either main or secondary highways you notice every 50 yards saplings to which are tied small bundles of straw. They are markers to show the way to emergency foxholes and slit trenches for German convoys under air attack. As soon as a Nazi driver heard the sound of an enemy strafing plane he could swing the vehicle off the road and dive into a trench.

"Morale Builders"

There are thousands of these "morale builders" for nervous convoy drivers. Each hole is four to six feet deep and long enough for two to four men. Some also are dug with the eye to possible use as machine gun emplacements and some are surrounded with barbed wire—perhaps to keep enemy soldiers away. Perhaps to keep French cows from tumbling in on the occupants.

Nothing shows more completely the German inability to cope with Allied airpower than these futile and empty slit trenches. Hitler's men need planes overhead to protect them so they can fight on. Instead, they are given holes in the ground in which to hide.

Flight for Freedom

There's so much blood and thunder, so much noise and emotionalism attending the operations of France's army in Mottey—it's resistance fighters—that you sometimes overlook the great fact that behind this confusion and disorder is the basic human wish of a once free people to help win again their own freedom.

This was brought home to a group of war correspondents eating an evening meal in Chartres the day it was liberated. At the next table sat a lonesome, tired Frenchman. He had no front teeth, his face was unshaven and his shirt was sweaty and dirty. A rifle swung from his shoulder—he'd spent the whole day hunting German snipers and hadn't shot a single Nazi. He was discouraged, and he was drinking more wine than a Frenchman should.

He was a little unsteady on his feet, but insisted on coming over and giving each correspondent a Gallic hug and a Gallic kiss on each cheek—something of a comrade's ordeal for all except the Frenchman himself.

Needed Liberty

Everyone was hoping he'd take another drink and fall asleep or go home and kiss his wife, but you're always polite to a military ally with a rifle. So, as the waitress had just brought cakes, he was asked to share one.

"Merci, non, pas de gâteau," he said. "Made la liberté est nécessaire pour moi" which, if any French is correct, meant he could get along without cakes but he did have to have his liberty.

You can't overlook a man, drunk or sober, who says that and means it. We loaded him up with cigarettes and matches when we left and he began to cry. Then what do you think he did? He insisted on kissing every one of us again—on both cheeks.

Three volunteers are among 16 men who have been notified by the New Oxford draft board to report for military service on Labor Day, September 4. The men who have already passed their final physical examinations will be placed in the service "pool" from which the armed forces draw to meet their needs.

The volunteers are listed first: Richard R. Starry, West High street, New Oxford; Thomas Lucian Ackerman, 613 Main street, McSherrystown; Edgar Patrick Redding, 219 Main street, Littlestown; Norman John Hertz, New Oxford R. 1; Levi Franklin Hull, Jr., 131 Lombard street, Littlestown; Charles William Topper, New Oxford R. 1; Martin Vincent Storm, Gettysburg R. 5; James Monroe Nell, Jr., New Oxford R. 3; John Louis Schialine, New Oxford R. 1; Edgar Harry Fair, Gardeners R. 2; Jean Bernard Noel, 315 Main street, McSherrystown; Charles William Shandbrook, Gettysburg R. 5; Frederick Baumgardner Jacobs, York street, East Berlin; Arthur Raymond Krichen, 341 Main street, McSherrystown; Thomas Levi Cookson, Jr., 310 North Queen street, Littlestown, and William Clifford Snyder, York Springs.

Tighter Health Restrictions Predicted; Report Violations

Provisions of the infantile paralysis ban are not being met in the county, Dr. C. G. Crist, county medical director, asserted today.

Doctor Crist said he had had reports of youths under 16 years of age working in packing houses, instead of in orchards as the provisions allow, and of heavy overloading of trucks transporting workers in the East Berlin area.

The employment of youngsters in packing houses is prohibited, Doctor Crist said. "The agreement between county health authorities and the fruit growers permits children to work in the orchards. Violations of this agreement will bring about a no-work ban," he declared.

Doctor Crist further stated that any dances or picnics at

WAR MEMORIAL SERVICES HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

A service in memory of Cpl. Horace M. Bushman, first Gettysburgian to give his life in France in this war, will be conducted Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Presbyterian church here where Corporal Bushman was a member.

The 27-year-old field artillery corporal was killed by enemy artillery fire on the heights above Cherbourg on the evening of June 25. His body lies in an American cemetery in Normandy where members of his battery conducted brief memorial services at the time he was buried with military honors.

The services Tuesday evening will be open to the public. Sections of seats will be reserved for the family and for the members of the Gettysburg fire company who will attend in uniform in a body. Another section will be reserved for employees of The Gettysburg Times who will attend the rites together. "Bush" was a compositor at The Gettysburg Times before he entered service.

The service will be conducted by the Rev. Robert M. Hunt, pastor of the church, and will include prayer, appropriate hymns, scripture reading and a sermon on "The Victory of Faith." His text will be I John 5:4, "This is the victory that hath overcome the world, even our faith."

A guard of honor from the Albert J. Lento Post No. 202 of the American Legion will carry the national colors to the front of the auditorium as the services begin. The guard

14 TRUE BILLS ARE RETURNED BY GRAND JURY

Slitting until 6:10 o'clock Friday evening—an unusually long session—the grand jury for the August term of court returned 14 true bills and approximately 300 miles behind the main fighting front running northwest and southeast of Paris, an all-out land, air and sea attack was launched on the besieged German garrison at Brest on the tip of the Breton peninsula.

Seine Graveyard

United Nations troops teams were rapidly liquidating the German pocket below the Seine, now turned to a graveyard.

American troops have seized Elbeuf, 25 miles from the mouth of the Seine. The Canadians were approaching Pont-Audemer, 13 miles east and slightly south of Allied held Hondeur at the river's mouth.

The Allied drive north toward the Pas-de-Calais coast coincided with a lull in the flying bombs attacks on London and southern England, but it was not known whether the Germans already were moving their robot launching platforms out.

The lone indictment not returned as a true bill was the case of Victor A. Palmer against William Cullison for operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner. The jury also ordered that Palmer pay the costs of the case.

True Bills

A second indictment against Cullison for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor was returned as a true bill.

Other true bills were found against the following: Chauncey Laughman, Abbottstown, serious charge; Richard Ingram, Littlestown R. 2, two serious charges; Maurice C. Wagner, New Oxford R. 2, involuntary manslaughter; Maurice Hildebride,

Once Mighty
Air Cover Of Nazi Army Is Thing Of Past

By HAL BOYLE
Chartres, Aug. 17 (Delayed) (AP)—A year and a half ago there was displayed prominently in army circles in Africa a poster showing a soldier digging a foxhole and beneath it the words "dig or die."

That motto has been adopted by the German army in France, which is undergoing far heavier air attacks than those the Luftwaffe was able to launch against American ground forces in the first dismal months of the Tunisian campaign.

For 30 miles riding toward Chartres on either main or secondary highways you notice every 50 yards saplings to which are tied small bundles of straw. They are markers to show the way to emergency foxholes and slit trenches for German convoys under air attack. As soon as a Nazi driver heard the sound of an enemy strafing plane he could swing the vehicle off the road and dive into a trench.

Morale Builders.

There are thousands of these "morale builders" for nervous convoy drivers. Each hole is four to six feet deep and long enough for two to four men. Some also are dug with the eye to possible use as machine gun emplacements and some are surrounded with barbed wire—perhaps to keep enemy soldiers away. Perhaps to keep French cows from tumbling in on the occupants.

Nothing shows more completely the German inability to cope with Allied airpower than these futile and empty slit trenches. Hitler's men need planes overhead to protect them so they can fight on. Instead, they are given holes in the ground in which to hide.

Fight for Freedom.

There's so much blood and thunder, so much noise and emotionalism attending the operations of France's army in Moltz—its resistance fighters—that you sometimes overlook the great fact that behind this confusion and disorder is the basic human wish of a once free people to help win again their own freedom.

This was brought home to a group of war correspondents eating an evening meal in Chartres the day it was liberated. At the next table sat a lonesome, tired Frenchman. He had no front teeth, his face was unshaven and his shirt was sweaty and dirty. A rifle swung from his shoulder—he'd spent the whole day hunting German snipers and hadn't shot a single Nazi. He was discouraged, and he was drinking more wine than a Frenchman should.

He was a little uneasy on his feet, but insisted on coming over and giving each correspondent a Garlic hug and a Garlic kiss on each cheek—something of a comrade-ideal for all except the Frenchman himself.

Needed Liberty.

Everyone was hoping he'd take another drink and fall asleep or go home and kiss his wife, but you're always polite to a military ally with a rifle. So, as the waitress had just brought cakes, he was asked to delay school opening as a precautionary measure.

Opening Of All Schools Is Postponed

In compliance with an order today by Dr. C. G. Crist, county medical director, prohibiting the opening of schools in Adams county until further notice, the county superintendent's office was notifying districts throughout the county that schools may not be opened until the health authorities give permission.

Some schools in rural districts were scheduled to open next Monday.

The order prohibiting the opening of schools is in line with the restrictions issued by medical authorities a week ago restricting children 16 years of age and under from theaters, churches, Sunday schools and all public gatherings as a precautionary measure against the spread of polio.

Harrisburg, Aug. 26 (AP)—Pennsylvania's infantile paralysis outbreak has claimed the lives of two more children while the state Health department now lists the number of persons stricken so far this year at 515.

Two-year-old Joseph Taylor died in Philadelphia, where local authorities have reported 125 cases, and nine-year-old Terry Hochman, Johnstown, became Cambria county's ninth polio victim since July 8. Johnstown officials also listed three new cases to bring the county total to 49.

The health department yesterday listed 19 additional cases.

New cases listed by the state were Lackawanna, Northampton and Tioga counties, three each; Lehigh, two; and Adams, Carbon, Columbia, Franklin, Lancaster, Luzerne, Lycoming and Schuylkill, one each. McKean county authorities also listed three new cases there as the county school board called a meeting Wednesday to decide whether to delay school opening as a precautionary measure.

PEACHES SHOW EFFECT OF DRY WEATHER HERE

With the peach season near its peak in Adams county, peaches filled the stands at the Farmers' market house this morning but only the earlier shoppers found choice fruit for canning. Many of the peaches were small and growers explained their size was due to the dry weather.

There were Belle of Georgia at some stands today and Elbertas were promised for next week. The Belles could be had for $1.25 a half bushel basket. Prices on peaches were quoted as high as $1.75 a half bushel basket. By the box most peaches sold at 20 cents.

Summer Rambos were offered at most stands and brought $2 per bushel. Fox grapes brought 20 cents a quart or two boxes for 35 cents. Other grapes were marked 15 and 20 cents a quart box. Plums were $1.50 a half bushel and 10 cents a quart box. Nectarines, described as a cross between a peach and a plum, sold for 25 cents a quart box at one stand. Baskets of mixed fruits were on sale at one stand at 60 cents each. Sickle pears were 65 cents a peck and 15 cents a quart box.

Tomatoes Plentiful. Tomatoes brought $1 and $1.25 a half bushel basket and 20 cents a quart box. Eggplants were 20 cents each; lima beans (shelled), 25 cents a pint and 50 cents a quart; squash, 45 cents each to three for 10 cents; cucumbers, two for five cents; onions, 15 cents a box; red beets, 10 cents a box; home-grown cantaloupes, from eight to 30 cents each, and celery, 25 cents a stalk.

Dressed tryers continued at 60 cents a pound while egg prices ranged from 41 to 46 cents a dozen. Home-made pies could be had at from 15 to 35 cents each while cakes ranged from 20 cents to 75 cents, depending upon the size. Gladioli were on sale at prices ranging up to $2 per dozen spikes.

RELIEF PAYMENTS INCREASE

Direct relief payments made to needy residents of Adams county during the week ended today showed an increase of $8.50 over those of the previous week. State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner reported.

Weather Forecast

Fair and somewhat warmer today and tonight; Sunday cloudy and cool.

Recently Married

Miss Margaret E. Trew, in her bridal gown, who was recently married to Midshipman Thomas L. Cline, Jr., in New York city. Young Mrs. Cline is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilkins Trew, Springs avenue, and Midshipman Cline is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Cline, Carlisle's street.

S. SGT. OYLER WEDS ROANOKE GIRL AUGUST 10

Mr. and Mrs. William Earl Allen, of Roanoke, Va., announce the marriage of their daughter, Mildred Estelle, to S. Sgt. Carl Ernest Oyler, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Oyler, 414 York street, Gettysburg.

The ceremony was performed by Major A. E. Butcher, post chaplain at Presidio, San Francisco, August 5 at 7 p.m. A gathering of about 35 friends of the couple witnessed the ceremony which was performed in the post chapel.

The bride was given in marriage by Capt. Norman K. Drake, Sergeant Oyler's commanding officer. Mrs. Drake attended the bride. The best man was Cpl. William A. Pearson, of Easley, S.C.

Crossed Continent.

Mrs. Oyler wore a pearl-tone gray suit with shell pink accessories. Her corsage was of white butterfly orchids and bavardia. Mrs. Drake was clad in a moss green suit with brown accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias.

Before the ceremony the chapel organist played Schubert's "Ave Maria," "Evening Star," and "O Promise Me." The church was decorated with white gladioli, dahlias, cathedral canes and palms.

After the ceremony the couple left for a short wedding trip to Palo Alto, California. Returning to San Francisco, the couple resided at the Presidio for several days and then left for a motor trip across the con-

New Items Under Price Regulation

Several additional commodities have been brought under the coverage of the maximum price regulation for used consumers' goods, the OPA has announced.

Principal additions to the coverage of the regulation are equipment and supplies, such as artists supplies, beauty parlor and barber shop furniture, restaurant fixtures and equipment, and all kinds of store and office fixtures, a wider list of housewares, hardware, appliance, wheel goods, and personal and household accessories, including clocks, watches, and jewelry (except precious stones), also small boats and canoes, sporting goods and firearms, optical goods, radios, phonographs and records, toys and games, industrial safety equipment and health supplies.

Summer Rambos were offered at most stands and brought $2 per bushel. Fox grapes brought 20 cents a quart or two boxes for 35 cents. Other grapes were marked 15 and 20 cents a quart box. Tighter Health Restrictions Predicted; Report Violations

Provisions of the infantile paralysis ban are not being met in the county, Dr. C. G. Crist, county medical director, asserted yesterday.

Doctor Crist said he had had reports of youths under 16 years of age working in packing houses, instead of in orchards as the provisions allow, and of heavy overloading of trucks transporting workers in the East Berlin area.

"Any further violations of these ban provisions will be met by much imposition of other strict rules forbidding any employment of the under-sixteens," Doctor Crist said.

Doctor Crist further stated that any dances or picnics at which children under 16 would attend are strictly forbidden. "If it is absolutely necessary to hold such dances or picnics," he said, "children under 16 years of age cannot attend."

He announced that the State police would begin a check Monday of buses and trucks to detect any overloading which is in violation of the motor code as well as of the health department rules.

The employment of youngsters in packing houses is prohibited, Doctor Crist said. "The agreement between county health authorities and the fruit growers permits children to work in the orchards. Violations of this agreement will bring about a new work ban," he declared.

ROTHENHOEFFER ELATED; COURT GRANTS LIBERTY

The words of Judge W. C. Sheely Friday afternoon revoking the two-year sentence under which Charles H. Rothenhoeffer, 73, Aspers, had been sent to jail August 5 "seized the heart" of the elderly countian who told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times that the 20-day period he spent in jail here was the longest he had ever been away from home.

He was surprised when Sheriff John E. Millhimes took him from jail to the court room early Friday afternoon and greatly relieved when he heard Judge Sheely say he was revoking the two-year sentence—a very unusual procedure here—and suspending any further sentence.

After his release Mr. Rothenhoeffer repeated what he had said many times before he "wouldn't have harmed Billy McCauslin for the world" but that when he glimpsed the boy's blue shirt through bushes at the end of his garden, he shot at what he thought was a fish crane as he had often done before along the small stream that passes his residence.

Grateful To Neighbors. The elderly man said he appreciated all that his friends did for him since the tragic shooting on July 19. Several residents of Aspers community came into court August 5 when sentence originally was passed and testified to his good reputation in the neighborhood in which he had resided for the last 17 years.

After Rothenhoeffer was released under a two-year probation order, he "fixed up the papers" with Probation Officer James A. Aumen and then went to the county jail for his extra clothing and a few other possessions before riding home to Aspers in a car sent here for that purpose by H. Earl Pitzer, Aspers, who had furnished bail for Mr. Rothenhoeffer after his arrest by state police in July.

With the grand jury adjourned the customary inspection of the county jail and county home will not be made during this term of court.

The lone indictment not returned was that of Victor A. Palmer against William Cullison for operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner. The jury also ordered that Palmer pay the costs of the case.

True Bills

A second indictment against Cullison for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor was returned as a true bill.

Other true bills were found against the following: Chauncey Laughman, Abbottstown, serious charge; Richard Ingram, Littlestown R. 2, two serious charges; Maurice C. Wagner, New Oxford R. 2, involuntary manslaughter; Maurice Hildebride,

Services Are Held For O. P. House

Funeral services for Oliver Perry House, 84-year-old Bendersville native who died at his home there Tuesday morning, were held Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The services were conducted at the residence by the Rev. George W. Harrison, pastor of the Bendersville Methodist church, and interment was made in the Bendersville cemetery. Mr. House was a director and one of the organizers of the cemetery association. He was superintendent for the past 18 years.

The pallbearers were William Sheely, George M. Peters, Henry Crum, Henry Taylor, G. F. Smith and D. C. Asper.

14 TRUE BILLS ARE RETURNED BY GRAND JURY

Sitting until 6:10 o'clock Friday evening—an unusually long session—the grand jury for the August term of court returned 14 true bills and rejected one.

Although there was not an unusually large number of cases to be reviewed, many witnesses were called and the session extended several hours over the customary hour of adjournment. Judge W. C. Sheely said today that it was probably the longest session in his nine years as president judge of the Adams county court.

With the grand jury adjourned the customary inspection of the county jail and county home will not be made during this term of court.

Seine Pocket Is Graveyard For Hitlerites

By WES GALLAGHER

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 26 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's forces were driving northward and eastward on a 200-mile-wide front toward Germany and Belgium today on the heels of fleeing Germans who apparently were trying to get out of France.

The Seine had been crossed, at least a dozen places. Allied planes relentlessly hammered the enemy, destroying 93 Nazi planes, 549 vehicles and 58 tanks in the past 24 hours.

Approximately 300 miles behind the main fighting front running northwest and southeast of Paris, an all-out land, air and sea attack was launched on the besieged German garrison at Brest on the tip of the Seine peninsula. The state of Nazi disintegration in France was self-evident in the report of an Associated Press correspondent, Thomas F. Hawkins, from Nancy, 80 miles northeast of Paris and 70 miles from the German border at Strasbourg, of conditions in the heart of the defense belt being attacked by Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's spearhead.

Confusion, disorganization and panic ruled, as German soldiers sought to escape in civilian clothes. Hawkins said. The start of the long-delayed assault on Brest indicated the Allies were hurrying the clearance of that

WAR MEMORIAL SERVICES HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

A service in memory of Cpl. Horace M. Bushman, first Gettysburgian to give his life in France in this war, will be conducted Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Presbyterian church here where Corporal Bushman was a member.

The 27-year-old field artillery corporal was killed by enemy artillery fire on the heights above Cherbourg on the evening of June 25. His body lies in an American cemetery in Normandy where members of his battery conducted brief memorial rites at the time he was buried with military honors.

ROBOMBS RAZE 17,000 HOMES EVERY 24 HOURS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

For the second time within a few days Allied air observers report that Field Marshal Von Kluge, German commander in chief in France, is carrying out movements above the Seine indicating he's preparing to make his next stand along a line based on those historic battle-borders, the Somme and the Marne rivers.

The corollary to this, of course, is that a heavy Nazi withdrawal is in the making from the Seine and from the channel coast immediately above the mouth of that river. The Hitlerite position along the Seine no longer is tenable.

This report makes sense because, as I've previously pointed out, Von Kluge may be expected to give battle at least along the Somme unless his forces are in utter rout. He naturally would hold on the Marne too, if possible, but his ability to make much of a showing there is questionable in view of the threat presented by General Patton's armored forces below Paris.

Report Von Kluge Killed

(The Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter published a report today that Von Kluge had been killed. There was no confirmation in either Allied or Axis official quarters of the report which the newspaper said was based on information from Germany.)

The Somme stretches right across the great natural highway which long has played an important part in the fate of many nations by providing an invasion route (and an avenue of escape) between northern France and Germany by way of Belgium. So long as Von Kluge can hold the line of the Somme he will be rendering a triple service to his desperate Fuehrer in this way:

(1) He will have established a barrier across the northern tip of France. (2) He will be guarding the Pas de Calais coast which lies on the narrowest part of the English channel—an easy mark for invasion from Britain unless strongly defended. (3) He will be protecting the launching fields of the robot-bombs which are doing such terrible damage in London and in other parts of southeastern England.

May Lose Coast Line

Ultimately the Nazi Marshal will have to continue his flight from the Somme to his own frontiers. This will mean complete abandonment of the entire coastline, throwing open to the Allies such ports as Calais, Boulogne and Dunkerque.

European observers still believe that one of Von Kluge's chief missions in holding on the Somme is to protect those launching fields for the flying bombs. The British government says the buzz-bombs are causing heavy casualties and shocking damage to property. The last official figure showed the death toll to be nearly 5,000—a total probably now surpassed—and houses are being destroyed or damaged at the rate of 17,000 every twenty-four hours.

The robots generally represent one of the secret weapons upon which Hitler has been depending to break Allied morale. German propagandists also continue to urge the public and the army to give the government more time to get other weapons into production.

Observers generally look for huge rocket bombs which probably will be fired from the mountains within the Reich itself. If and when these new horrors come on the little robots can be dispensed with and the Pas de Calais coast no longer will be so essential to Hitler's program.

Littlestown Man Is Shot By Sniper

S. Sgt. John Richard Lester, 21, Littlestown R. 1, was slightly wounded in action in France on Aug. 5 according to a War Department telegram received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lester. The wounded man's wife resides in Hanover, Md.

The left rear section of his truck trailer and the left rear of the trailer of Clifton J. Harbart, Chicago, loaded with general merchandise, collided knocking the rear wheels out from under the Chicago truck. The wheels of the Grothe truck were loosened but not knocked out of place.

The crash occurred while Grothe was headed south and Harbart north. The Harbart truck ran off the side of the road and his trailer dropped to the highway but did not upset.

Explains Sugar Quota For Canning

Numerous applications for home canning sugar received at local War Price and Rationing Boards indicate a misunderstanding of the allowable maximum of this commodity for home use, according to the O.P.A.

Sugar Stamp No. 40 in War Ration Book 4 is good now for five pounds of sugar for home canning purposes without supplementary application and will be valid until February 28, 1945.

Upon submission and approval of application form R-323, a maximum of 100 pounds of sugar is allowed for each person whose name is listed on the application, to which Sugar Stamp 37 taken from War Ration Book 4 is issued to each person concerned must be attached.

The allowable maximum for each person is 25 pounds including five pounds available on Sugar Stamp 40 and 100 pounds available on application attaching Sugar Stamp 37.

For the second time within a few days Allied air observers report that Field Marshal Von Kluge, German commander in chief in France, is carrying out movements above the Seine indicating he's preparing to make his next stand along a line based on those historic battle-borders, the Somme and the Marne rivers.

The corollary to this, of course, is that a heavy Nazi withdrawal is in the making from the Seine and from the channel coast immediately above the mouth of that river. The Hitlerite position along the Seine no longer is tenable.

This report makes sense because, as I've previously pointed out, Von Kluge may be expected to give battle at least along the Somme unless his forces are in utter rout. He naturally would hold on the Marne too, if possible, but his ability to make much of a showing there is questionable in view of the threat presented by General Patton's armored forces below Paris.

Report Von Kluge Killed

(The Stockholm newspaper Dag-ens Nyheter published a report today that Von Kluge had been killed. There was no confirmation in either Allied or Axis official quarters of the report which the newspaper said was based on information from Germany).

The Somme stretches right across the great natural highway which long has played an important part in the fate of many nations by providing an invasion route (and an avenue of escape) between northern France and Germany by way of Belgium. So long as Von Kluge can hold the line of the Somme he will be rendering a triple service to his desperate Fuehrer in this way:

(1). He will have established a barrier across the northern tip of France. (2). He will be guarding the Pas de Calais coast which lies on the narrowest part of the English channel—an easy mark for invasion from Britain unless strongly defended. (3). He will be protecting the launching fields of the robot-bombs which are doing such terrible damage in London and in other parts of southeastern England.

May Lose Coast Line

Ultimately—the Nazi Marshal will have to continue his flight from the Somme to his own frontiers. This will mean complete abandonment of the entire coastline, throwing open to the Allies such ports as Calais, Boulogne and Dunkerque.

European observers still believe that one of Von Kluge's chief missions in holding on the Somme is to protect those launching fields for the flying bombs. The British government says the buzz-bombs are causing heavy casualties and shocking damage to property. The last official figure showed the death toll to be nearly 5,000—a total probably now surpassed—and houses are being destroyed or damaged at the rate of 17,000 every twenty-four hours.

The robots certainly represent one of the secret weapons upon which Hitler has been depending to break Allied morale. German propagandists also continue to urge the public and the army to give the government more time to get other weapons into production.

Observers generally look for huge rocket bombs which probably will be fired from the mountains within the Reich itself. If and when these new horrors come on, the little robots can be dispensed with, and the Pas de Calais coast no longer will be so essential to Hitler's program.

Littlestown Man Is Shot By Sniper

S. Sgt. John Richard Leister, 21, Littlestown R. 1, was slightly wounded in action in France on August 5, according to a War Department telegram received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Leister. The wounded man's wife resides in Hanover, Md.

Staff Sergeant Leister was inducted into the Army in New Cumberland on January 8, 1943. He trained at Fort McClellan, Ala. Sergeant Leister's outfit went to England on June 1, 1943, and was one of the first units to enter France in the invasion.

Pvt. Henry Stern, husband of Mrs. Ruth Zortman Stern, Jefferson, who was reported by the War Department as having been wounded in action in France on July 16, was the victim of a Nazi sniper, according to information received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stern, Jefferson.

The 33-year-old infantryman has written to his parents that he was shot through the chest by a sniper hidden in a hedgerow in Normandy. The bullet entered between his ribs and emerged from his back but did no damage to his lungs, he said. He is slowly recovering in a hospital in England.

DEATH

J. Edward Richter

J. Edward Richter, 66, Hanover R. 3, died at his Berwick township home Friday afternoon at 12:45 o'clock after a brief illness.

The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Dwight F. Putman and their three children, Springs avenue, are spending the week with relatives in Somerset. James Werner, who had been with them here for a prolonged visit returned to his home at Irvin.

Richard Culp, a student at Lehigh university, is spending the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Culp, York street.

Miss Elizabeth Troxell, Miss Virginia Troxell and Miss Louise Ramer, Baltimore street, spent a day this week in New Holland where Miss Elizabeth Troxell will assume her duties as a member of the teaching staff of the high school in September.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Cline had as guests Friday at their home on Carlisle street Mrs. Cline's father, S. A. Peifer of Dubois, and her brother and sister-and-law, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Peifer of Wellsboro who were enroute to Virginia for a week.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Clarence Funk, Richmond, Va., are spending the remainder of the month at their cottage at Caledonia.

Hospital Report

David Bilheimer, Tenafly, N. J., is visiting his aunt, Miss Maud Bream of Springs avenue.

Miss Edith Dorsey has returned to Cleveland after spending several months with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Ott, Springs avenue.

Patients discharged included John Storm, Hanover; John Edwards, Washington, D. C., and Raymond and John Sanders, Emmitsburg.

TRUCKS CRASH; DRIVER FINED

Damage estimated at $400 resulted when two loaded trailers side-swiped on the Hanover-York Springs highway, two and a half miles north of Hampton, about 11:55 o'clock Friday night. Private Harold Sheads of the state police investigated and said neither driver was injured.

One of the operators, Elisha Joshua Grothe, Jr., Boring, Md., was arrested on a charge of driving a truck as a paid employee at the age of 16 years. He was released after paying a $10 fine and the costs before Justice of the Peace J. R. Hartman, Hampton. Grothe was driving a loaded coal truck.

The left rear section of his truck trailer and the left rear of the trailer of Clifton J. Harbert, Chicago, loaded with general merchandise, collided knocking the rear wheels out from under the Chicago truck. The wheels of the Grothe truck were loosened but not knocked out of place.

The crash occurred while Grothe was headed south and Harbert north. The Harbert truck ran off the side of the road and his trailer dropped to the highway but did not upset.

Explains Sugar Quota For Canning

Numerous applications for home canning sugar received at local War Price and Rationing Boards indicate a misunderstanding of the allowable maximum of this commodity for home use, according to the OPA.

Sugar Stamp No. 40 in War Ration Book 4 is good now for five pounds of sugar for home canning purposes without supplementary application, and will be valid until February 28, 1945.

Upon submission and approval of application form R 323, a maximum of twenty pounds of sugar is allowable for each person whose name is listed on the application, to which Spare Stamp 37 taken from War Ration Book 4 issued to each person concerned, must be attached.

The allowable maximum for each person is 25 pounds, including five pounds available on Sugar Stamp 40 and twenty pounds available on application attaching Spare Stamp 37.

The mercury dropped to 48 degrees early this morning at Arendtsville but did not set a record for the summer. A reading of 47 was taken earlier in the month and in June there was a low of 42 degrees.

Chicago, Aug. 26 (AP)—There was an accidental death every five and one-half minutes and an injury every three seconds during 1943, the National Safety Council says reporting a total of 97,500 accidental deaths and 10,100,000 injured.

AERIAL BLOWS FORCE JAPS TO ABANDON TRUK

(By The Associated Press)

To the tune of a smashingly-effective shipping attack by Allied planes off the Nipponese headquarters at Manado, Celebes, the Japanese acknowledged today that they have been forced to leave their once-powerful central Carolines garrison at Truk almost completely to its own resources.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced that Mitchell medium bombers, attacking at mast height off Celebes Thursday, sank five medium sized freighter-transports, left a light cruiser listing and burning, damaged two other cargoships and strafed 40 jiggers and barges, without interception or loss.

Meanwhile, the Tokyo radio, speaking frankly of the frequent Allied raids upon the Carolines, said the Japanese trapped on Truk have had to reclaim wastelands to "establish self-sufficiency of food." The broadcast added that "exhaustion of our pilots and the loss of aircraft are inescapable."

Wide Range Blows

MacArthur and his partner, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, disclosed air raids upon Iwo Jima in the Volcano Islands 750 miles south of Tokyo, Pagan and Agiguan in the Marianas, Palau and Ponape in the Carolines, Wake, Halmahera and many another enemy target.

In China's western Yunnan province, Chinese troops captured the larger part of Tengchung outside the ancient walls of the Japanese stronghold, repulsing an enemy counterattack.

The Japanese launched a new drive northward from Suiki on the neck of the Luichow peninsula on the south China coast opposite Hainan island. The Chinese command said that, in heavy fighting both sides suffered considerable losses. Enemy success here could neutralize the defensive power of Kweilin, provincial capital of Kwangsi.

During the afternoon several non-support suits were settled by the court and the surety of the peace cases were handled.

Rush L. Gift, Fayetteville R. D., was ordered by the court to pay $16 a week in support of his wife, to pay the costs of the case and to enter $1,000 bond for the compliance with the order.

Richard Currans, Orrtanna R. 1, was ordered to pay $7 a week maintenance for his wife and to enter $300 bond. He was given a month in which to pay the costs of the case.

After a hearing on a surety of the peace charge, Mrs. Clema Stevens, East Berlin, was ordered to enter a $300 bond to keep the peace and to pay the costs.

A graduate of Mount St. Mary's college, Emmitsburg, in 1942, Frailey was editor of the school paper, "The Mountain Echo" and a member of the college radio bureau. He served with the Associated Press staff in Baltimore and Annapolis, and also wrote radio news for the Baltimore Press Association before his induction into the Army. He has contributed articles to several magazines.

Property Transfers

The following deeds were filed today in the office of Recorder Wm. G. Horner:

P. S. Orner, attorney in fact for the estate of the late John F. Dillon, and the Gettysburg National bank to Ira Sanky and Nellie Rice Ernst, Washington, D. C., a property of six acres in Franklin township.

Walter C. and Letha R. Spicer, Gettysburg, to Justus H. and Madeline A. Liesman, Baltimore, Md., a property on West Lincoln avenue, Gettysburg.

Vernon P. and Vivian Fern Stambaugh, Reading township, to George L. and Beulah M. Heagey, Reading township, three tracts of land in Reading township.

Donald Bruce Coover and Josephine Coover, Littlestown, to Walter C. and Letha R. Spicer, Gettysburg, a property on the northeast corner of Seminary avenue.

CIGARETS TRAP
TWO FUGITIVES

Reading, Pa., Aug. 26 (AP)—Two escaped prisoners were back in Berks county jail today—recaptured because of their desire for cigarettes.

A posse of police and 200 farmers armed with rifles and shot guns surrounded a cornfield and captured them late yesterday.

The pair, Elmer McCord, 25, of Philadelphia, and Marshall Wittman, 17, of Hush church, Berks county, had spent the forenoon and night in the home of Ray Reber, Centreport, holding him prisoner at gunpoint.

Yesterday, Reber prepared their breakfast and dinner, for which they paid him $10. Then, yearning for a smoke, they told Reber to send to a store for cigarettes.

Reber haled two neighbor children. They went to a grocery store nearby. The grocer, remembering that Reber does not smoke, asked for whom the cigarettes were being brought.

His suspicion led to the formation of the posse and the recapture.

BROWNS BOW; A'S TAKE TWO FROM RED SOX

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Eighteen scoreboard goose eggs stared the St. Louis Browns in the face today as the league leaders tackled the surging Detroit Tigers in the second game of a "crossbow" series with the Yankees breathing defiance in a new threat.

Six of the eight teams in the American league changed places yesterday when New York took over second spot only 4½ games off the pace and the Tigers shovled into a third place tie with Boston.

Dizzy Trout gave the Browns plenty of nothing with a neat four-hit whitewash job, 1-0, doubling the string of zeros matched by Washington's Johnny Nigeling Tuesday night. It took a double steal engineered by Joe Hoover and Eddie May to beat Denny Galehouse who matched Trout's work pitch for pitch in the first seven innings. Dizzy became the first American league hurler to toss four shutouts.

Yanks Beat Senators

The Browns had been blanked only seven times all season but this second successive job coming when the club had lost six of its last seven was a particularly damaging blow to all-St. Louis series plans.

New York tamed the Washington giant killer but it took 11 innings to do it, 4-2, as Atley Donald hand-ed Roger Wolff his 10th straight defeat. Three walks, an error and an infield out won for the Yanks in overtime.

Boston's hopes faded in a double setback at Philadelphia, 6-1 and 9-4, with Bobo Newsom lengthening his home scoreless inning streak against Victor to 26 for the first victory.

Joe Berry grabbing a relief

amp in the second. Bobby Esposito boosted the A's into fifth place and helped drop the Red Sox from second to a tie for third with five hits in seven tries including his fifth homer with two on.

Kenny Keltner became the 23rd major leaguer to hit a grand slam homer this year when he connected for the second time in Cleveland's 10-2 romp over Chicago's Bill Dietrich. Mel Harder captured his 10th victory.

Mal Ott's Giants hopped back into the National league first division on four successive victories by slaughtering Brooklyn 10-2 behind Bill Voiselle as Chicago was shut out by Cincinnati's Ed Reusser, 2-0. It was the fifth time Voiselle had stopped the last-place Dodgers in six starts and Brooklyn's sixth straight loss.

Pittsburgh's victory spurge was halted at six straight and 17 of 18 games when St. Louis' Fred Schmidt blanked the Pirates 4-0 for the Cards' 39th triumph. Preacher Roe was the victim. With 36 games to go, the Cards who have won 14 of their last 15 and five in a row, need 27 victories to tie the Cubs' all-time mark.

Ron Norster's bases-loaded homer gave the Phillies' Dick Barrett a first game 9-8 edge over Jim Robin of Boston but Ned Andrews outstealed Charley Schanz to even the score in the finale, 4-3.

7-3 GRID TILT

Los Angeles, Aug. 26 (AP)—The fourth airforce of March Field, California, made and took advantage of all the breaks but the last one as it lost the opening major football game of 1944 before 50,000 fans in Memorial Coliseum last night. The ponderous Washington Redskins came up with a 7 to 3 victory.

The Army fliers, expertly coached by Maj. Paul Schissler, and in top physical trim, had the better of everything but the final score. They outplayed the National leaguers for three full periods, despite the ever-dangerous passes of Singin' Sammy Baugh and the sensational running of Steve Bagar, once of Notre Dame.

But in the fourth period Indian Jack-Jack Jacobs fired a quick and hard pass to his right. Mike Mika of the Redskins intercepted it, fumbled it, picked it up, and ran 21 yards for a touchdown. Joe Aguirre, ex-St. Mary's, added the extra point.

NELSON LEADS TAM O'SHANTER

By L. E. SKELLEY
Chicago, Aug. 26 (AP)—Byron Nelson, the golf perfectionist, was back in a familiar spot today—leading the field.

The tall Texan was in front of the pack at the half-way mark of the all-American open tournament at Tam O'Shanter Country club and headed for a $13,425.00 payoff—go-round's biggest prize.

Nelson, remarking he couldn't complain a bit, entered the third 18-hole session of the big 72-hole go-round with a two-stroke lead over Harold (Jug) McSpaden, defending champion, and tanky Vic Ghezzi, the Camp Grant, Ill., Army sergeant.

Nelson's 70 and his opening 68 gave him a six-under par 138 for the first 36 holes. McSpaden, leading money winner this season, and Ghezzi added 69's to their first round 71's.

Ed Dudley, the Professional Golfers' Association president, doesn't minimize Nelson's chances, but he warns that in a tournament like this anybody 10 strokes behind at 36 holes may come home winner."

Note on a golf tournament in India from Sgt. John Derr, former Greensboro, N. C., sport scribe:
"Saw a Sam Snead golf short at the cinema tonight at 7:20 and at 7:45
I was out on the course practicing shots he'd made. Got a few pointers that may help in the tourney
I'm in the midst of. ... Johnny Bulla, my die-hard buddy from Greensboro, played in the Inquirer tourney at Philadelphia in May and sent me the used balls with which he played there. They got here the day before I qualified, so I credit these tournament-tested balls with my satisfactory score. Now if I could only hit them like Bulla does,
I'd be okay."

REDSKINS COP

7-3 GRID TILT

Los Angeles, Aug. 26 (AP)—The Fourth airforce of March Field,
California, made and took advantage of all the breaks but the last one as it lost the opening major football game of 1944 before 50,000 fans in Memorial Coliseum last night. The ponderous Washington Redskins came up with a 7 to 3 victory.

The Army fliers, expertly coached by Maj. Paul Schissler, and in tip-top physical trim, had the better of everything but the final score.
They outplayed the National leaguers for three full periods, despite the ever-dangerous passes of Slingin' Sammy Baugh and the sensational running of Steve Bagrus, once of Notre Dame.

But in the fourth period Indian Jack-Jack Jacobs fired a quick and hard pass to his right. Mike Micka of the Redskins intercepted it, fumbled it, picked it up, and ran 21 yards for a touchdown. Joe Aguirre, ex-St. Mary's, added the extra point.

NELSON LEADS
TAM O'SHANTER

By L. E. SKELLEY

Chicago, Aug. 26 (AP)—Byron Nelson, the golf perfectionist, was back in a familiar spot today—leading the field.

The tall Texan was in front of the pack at the half-way mark of the all-American open tournament at Tam O'Shanter Country club and headed for a $13,462.50 payoff—goldfish's biggest prize.

Nelson, remarking he couldn't "complain a bit," entered the third 18-hole session of the big 72-hole show with a two-stroke lead over Harold (Jug) McSpaden, defending champion, and lanky Vic Ghezzi, the Camp Grant, Ill., Army sergeant.

Nelson, pre-tourney favorite, yesterday shot a 70, two under par, to land out front—just where most of those enthusiastic link devotees who swarm around Tam O'Shanter's course by the thousands figure he'll be come Sunday when the firing is over.

Six Under Par

Nelson's 70 and his opening 68 gave him a six-under par 138 for the first 36 holes. McSpaden, leading money winner this season, and Ghezzi added 69's to their first round 71's.

Ed Dudley, the Professional Golfers' Association president, doesn't minimize Nelson's chances, but he warns that "in a tournament like this anybody 10 strokes behind at 36 holes may come home winner."

Henry Picard, who has appeared in only two tournaments since 1942, paid little attention to par as he swept into a third place tie with Felix Serafin, of Pittston, Pa. Picard, busy in a war plant last year,
smashed out a 66, six under par,
for a 141 total.

Johnny Bulla, the airlines pilot who topped the field with a 65 for the first 18, slipped into a tailspin yesterday and didn't come out of it until he had used 79 strokes, 14 off his opening round. He landed in an eight-way tie at 144.

Hagerstown Wins
Over Wilmington

(By The Associated Press)

The Hagerstown Owls last night took a 5-4 decision from the league-leading Wilmington team. A three-run rally in the eighth was not enough for the Blue Rocks to overtake the early Hagerstown lead.

Merkowicz's triple and Rothman's single accounted for the winning run.

Allentown took both ends of a double header from Trenton, 10-3, and 5-1, to keep crowding Wilmington for first place. A six run rally in the second inning decided the first contest.

In the second Allentown scored one run in the fourth to break a 1-1 deadlock, and added single runs

BROWNS BOW; A'S TAKE TWO FROM RED SOX

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Eighteen scoreboard goose eggs stared the St. Louis Browns in the face today as the league leaders tackled the surging Detroit Tigers in the second game of a "crossbow" series with the Yankees breathing defiance in a new threat.

Six of the eight teams in the American league changed places yesterday when New York took over second spot only 4½ games off the pace and the Tigers shoved into a third place tie with Boston.

Dizzy Trout gave the Browns plenty of nothing with a neat four-hit whitewash job, 1-0, doubling the string of zeros hatched by Washington's Johnny Niggle Tuesday night. It took a double steal engineered by Joe Hoover and Eddie Mayor to beat Denny Galehouse who matched Trout's work pitch for pitch in the first seven innings. Dizzy became the first American league hurler to toss four shutouts.

Yanks Beat Senators

The Browns had been blanked only seven times all season but this second successive job coming when the club had lost six of its last seven, was a particularly damaging blow to all-St. Louis series plans.

New York tamed the Washington giant killer but it took 11 innings to do it, 4-2, as Atley Donald handed Roger Wolff his 10th straight defeat. Three walks, an error and an infield out won for the Yanks in overtime.

Boston's hopes faded in a double setback at Philadelphia, 6-1 and 9-4, with Bobo Newsom lengthening his home scoreless inning streak against

Winton to 26 for the first victory

4 Joe Berry grabbing a relief

amph in the second. Bobby Esposito boosted the A's into fifth place and helped drop the Red Sox from second to a tie for third with five hits in seven tries including his fifth homer with two on.

Kenny Keltner became the 23rd major leaguer to hit a grand slam homer this year when he connected for the second time in Cleveland's 10-2 romp over Chicago's Bill Dietrich. Mel Harder captured his 10th victory.

Mel Ott's Giants hopped back into the National league first division on four successive victories by slaughtering Brooklyn 10-2 behind Bill Voiselle as Chicago was shut out by Cincinnati's Ed Heusser, 2-0. It was the fifth time Voiselle had stopped the last-place Dodgers in six starts and Brooklyn's sixth straight loss.

Pittsburgh's victory splurge was halted at six straight and 17 of 18 games when St. Louis' Fred Schmidt blanked the Pirates 4-0 for the Cards' 89th triumph. Preacher Roe was the victim. With 36 games to go, the Cards who have won 14 of their last 15 and five in a row, need 27 victories to tie the Cubs' all-time record.

Ron Northey's bases-loaded homer gave the Phillies Dick Barrett a first game 9-8 edge over Jim Tobin of Boston but Nate Andrews outstealed Charley Schanz to even the score in the finale, 4-3.

FORCE

To rule with might is easy quite
For weeks or months or years,
Until to fight for God and right
A greater force appears.

POSTWAR WORLD

A better world of law and code,
Perhaps through life a smoother road.

But need for faith in what is right
And work by day and rest by night.

PEACE OF MIND

It seems that man is so designed
Three joys suffice for peace of mind:
A useful task, and love, and then
The good will of his fellow men.

DIFFICULTY

Did nothing here his progress stay
And man could always have his way,
Do what he wished with ease, he'd try.

For tasks his strength and wit to try.

Today's Talk

THE SUPERIOR PERSON

There are none too many superior persons in the world. It could use many, many more! And the simple fact is that anyone can be just that kind of a person! To be rich, highly educated, or high born is not essential. I have known, and loved, superior persons who were most humble in origin, and quite unschooled as to book knowledge—but superior in tact, kindness, consideration, common sense, and in self-knowledge.

The superior person is always tolerant of others, respectful to those of humbler walks, and ready ready in sympathy and natural understanding. Such a one is never boastful, nor imitative of someone else. He is always his genuine self.

To those of less learning, or less limited in ability or opportunity, he holds a common footing, never allowing such ones to feel their lack. Rather does he invite confidence and a meeting of views—always tolerant of station, race, religion, or origin.

The superior person is always companionable. There is a meeting ground—with him, and within his heart. He is the friend you tie to for life—when you find him!

The superior person has opinions, but he is not opinionated. You listen to him, but you do not argue. You merely discuss, thereby adding to his knowledge and to your own. You part from each other enriched mentally and spiritually.

The superior person does not have to be pointed out to you. You feel his presence, and recognize him the moment that you come in contact with him. He makes you feel him—and you do. You are never conscious of his wealth (if he has any) nor of his learning—be that little or much. But you are conscious of his superiority.

You cannot learn to be a superior person out of a book. You have to learn it out of life, and out of yourself. You have to be a student of yourself. There is no textbook like that which is made up of self-experience.

Kleinfelter, 62, president of the Biglerville National bank, apple barrel manufacturer, Reading railroad agent, active churchman and school director, died at his home in Biglerville at 8:30 o'clock Monday morning from the effects of a stroke of paralysis suffered on July 12, 1933.

Large Crowds Enjoy Parade of State Elks: Pennsylvania's 1934 Elks convention has closed.

The peak point in attendance was reached Thursday when more than 2,000 Elks from all parts of the state and Maryland came here to participate in or view the large, colorful parade.

York walked away with the bulk of the cash prizes, winning five prizes for a total of $275.

Gettysburg's representation followed Hanover. Three men, depicting the "Spirit of '76" rode in a roadster. Thirty-nine men were in the marching unit.

A decorated automobile, an old machine and the local 40-8 society locomotive and box car brought up the rear.

The grand ball was held in the Hotel Gettysburg annex Thursday night.

College Grad Weds Tuesday: Robert M. Bucher, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Bucher, of Lancaster, and formerly of Biglerville, and Miss Marjorie E. Gemmill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Gemmill, of Felton, were married at noon Tuesday in Washington Memorial chapel at Valley Forge by the chaplain.

Mr. Bucher is an analytical chemist for the Hershey Chocolate corporation at Hershey.

Personal: Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Swisher, East Middle street, are spending several days at Rehoboth Beach, Delaware.

Riding with Russell

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL, Member S. A. E.

What some drivers call a clear conscience often turns out to be just a bad memory.

Let's You "See" Air
A little tip that will prove helpful when you are bleeding hydraulic lines of the car's braking system is to put some fluid into the drain jar before inserting the drain hose. Thus when you start to drain you will be able to see the telltale bubbles rise through the fluid if there is air coming out of the system. It is because the process is something of a visibility test that you should always use a glass jar for draining.

Muffler Spoiled Brakes
Speaking of brakes reminds me of a dangerous situation which was finally discovered to be due entirely to failure to replace a badly perforated muffler. It seems that hot gases from this muffler were blowing against one of the brake lines, causing evaporation of the fluid. The system then sucked in air, with the result that no matter how much fluid was added or how much brake servicing was done the car usually would not stop properly after it had been running awhile. Tests always showed air in the lines, but no explanation of the mystery developed until someone thought of the muffler situation.

More About Flushings
Recently I stated that much hydraulic brake trouble could be avoided if owners would have the complete system bled off and refilled every few years. There were some questions about this. Many thought I had meant to say "every few months." There are good reasons for making this an occasional service rather than something to do several times a year, and here's why:

In the first place, a properly set up hydraulic system doesn't need frequent flushing. If it starts with good fluid and has the benefit of additional fluid as needed its fluid won't become contaminated for a long time. I have known some cars to run six, seven and eight years.

Meeting the problem of lower oil with the system still in good shape. That, however, is much too long for safety.

In the second place, frequent flushings would increase the risk of error. When you have run your car two years or so and decide on a brake flushing and refilling you naturally make an event of it and make sure that only the best solutions are used. If you did the job frequently you might become careless about it. There is much inferior fluid, and of course quite a temptation to experiment with flushing solutions.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:
It is odd why motorists who give such careful thought to possibility of bad radiator hose connections seldom consider the hot water heater hoses. These sections of hose, if neglected, are likely to cause serious overheating.

"Heater" hose that has outlived its usefulness is likely to shed bits of rotted rubber. These are led through to the radiator where they soon clog the core and bring on overheating. In addition, some of the rotted pieces may be circulated into the heater core itself. That means less heat from the core when cold weather comes."

Some Hidden Risks
You may not realize it but a lot of safety not at all obvious. This is just another way of saying that you are probably indulging in some fancy dangers without realizing it. Right now a hidden danger lies in not sounding the car's horns often enough, especially when going into blind curves or when approaching the crest of a hill. In this same category is failure of the engine to accelerate properly at higher speed. You may need this extra punch some time in an emergency. Lack of such acceleration ability usually can be traced to need for rebuilding the carburetor's acceleration pump, a small gadget that shoots extra fuel into the intake whenever you tramp on the accelerator.

Tests for Clogged Core

Trying to determine if the radiator is partially clogged is simplified by a neat little trick which many a service man still remembers to try. Just fill up the radiator with hot water, let it stand awhile and then feel the core to see if there are any cold spots.

This is a variation of the plan of feeling the radiator while the engine is idling, but it has the ad-

If ANYONE still has doubts about tires built with man-made rubber, here's clear-cut performance proof: by the most conservative estimate, essential drivers have already rolled over 3 billion miles on B. F. Goodrich all-synthetic Silvertowns.

Letters have come from drivers all over the country reporting complete satisfaction. Most of them have expressed confidence that all-synthetic Silvertowns will give at least as much mileage as pre-war tires.

The 80,000-mile road test was the first proof that B. F. Goodrich could build high-performance tires with synthetic rubber. The test started almost two years before Pearl Harbor when B. F. Goodrich sold tires in which more than half the rubber was synthetic. They were the first

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, Aug. 26 (AP)—Operating on the short waves of 31.19 and 41 meters, the transmitter at Paris, now finally wrested from German control, is back on the air. NBC monitors first began picking it up Thursday afternoon and yesterday put it on the network for a brief relay.

The station, on the wavelengths the Vichy transmitter had been using, described itself as "Radio de la Nation Francaise," under control of the French forces of the interior. These were the same channels assigned to the old Paris transmitter before German occupation.

Both English and French were being used in the transmissions which included musical recordings inserted between broadcasts of developments. Broadcasts said the signals reaching this country were none too good but understandable.

The first NBC relay came during Morgan Beatty's afternoon commentary from Washington, which was suddenly interrupted. It was a description in French of Parisians shouting and dancing in the streets with joy over the arrival of American and French troops.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, Aug. 26 (AP)—Operating on the short waves of 31.19 and 41 meters, the transmitter at Paris, now finally wrested from German control, is back on the air. NBC monitors first began picking it up Thursday afternoon and yesterday put it on the network for a brief relay.

The station, on the wavelengths the Vichy transmitter had been using, described itself as "Radio de la Nation Francaise," under control of the French forces of the interior. These were the same channels assigned to the old Paris transmitter before German occupation.

Both English and French were being used in the transmissions, which included musical recordings inserted between broadcasts of developments. Monitors said the signals reaching this country were none too good but understandable.

The first NBC relay came during Morgan Beatty's afternoon commentary from Washington, which was suddenly interrupted. It was a description in French of Parisians shouting and dancing in the streets with joy over the arrival of American and French troops.

The star, who has been garbed by some of London's most distinguished creators of male fashions, underwent fittings with Jack Gaylard, mechanical expert, and two tinsmiths!

He was being fitted for a suit of armor such as was used by knights in medieval tournaments, for a jousting bout in "The Canterville Ghost," in which he, Margaret O'Brien and Robert Young are co-starred by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer at the Majestic Theatre, Monday and Tuesday.

The Oscar Wilde story opens with a duel between armored knights on horseback. Laughton stood patiently on the set while tinsmiths snipped with shears at the sheet metal to achieve the right "fit."

Jules Dassin directed the whimsical comedy of ghost and a youngster, and Arthur Field is the producer.

LOUISIANA HAYRIDE

If an Oscar were awarded to the busiest actor in Hollywood, it would probably go to Richard Lane, who is appearing with Judy Canova in "Louisiana Hayride," the Columbia musical playing at the Majestic Theatre Wednesday.

In the last twelve months, Lane has appeared in twenty-two pictures and has entertained 362 times at Army camps. Most of the camps have been in California, but he found time to visit members of the armed forces in 31 other states. For six consecutive years, Lane has led all Hollywood featured actors in the number of productions in which he has appeared. And, furthermore, his contracts call for a minimum two-weeks guarantee. This means that even if he works only one or two days in a picture, he gets two weeks' pay.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, Aug. 26 (AP)—Operating on the short waves of 31.19 and 41 meters, the transmitter at Paris, now finally wrested from German control, is back on the air. NBC monitors first began picking it up Thursday afternoon and yesterday put it on the network for a brief relay.

The station, on the wavelengths the Vichy transmitter had been using, described itself as "Radio de la Nation Francaise," under control of the French forces of the interior. These were the same channels assigned to the old Paris transmitter before German occupation.

Both English and French were being used in the transmissions, which included musical recordings inserted between broadcasts of developments. Monitors said the signals reaching this country were none too good but understandable.

The first NBC relay came during Morgan Beatty's afternoon commentary from Washington, which was suddenly interrupted. It was a description in French of Parisians shouting and dancing in the streets with joy over the arrival of American and French troops.

The star, who has been garbed by some of London's most distinguished creators of male fashions, underwent fittings with Jack Gaylard, mechanical expert, and two tailors.

He was being fitted for a suit of armor such as was used by knights in medieval tournaments, for a jousting bout in "The Canterville Ghost," in which he, Margaret O'Brien and Robert Young are co-starred by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer at the Majestic Theatre, Monday and Tuesday.

The Oscar Wilde story opens with a duel between armored knights on horseback. Laughton stood patiently on the set while tailors snipped with shears at the sheet metal to achieve the right "fit."

Dassin directed the whimsical comedy of a ghost and a youngster, and Arthur Field is the producer.

LOUISIANA HAYRIDE

If an Oscar were awarded to the busiest actor in Hollywood, it would probably go to Richard Lane, who is appearing with Judy Canova in "Louisiana Hayride," the Columbia musical playing at the Majestic Theatre Wednesday.

In the last twelve months, Lane has appeared in twenty-two pictures and has entertained 362 times at Army camps. Most of the camps have been in California, but he found time to visit members of the armed forces in 31 other states. For six consecutive years, Lane has led all Hollywood featured actors in the number of productions in which he has appeared. And, furthermore, his contracts call for a minimum two-weeks guarantee. This means that even if he works only one or two days in a picture, he gets two weeks' pay.
